Are you interested in technology, do you like to lend a hand and would you like to learn a future-proof profession with responsibility?

Then start your 3.5-year apprenticeship as a plant mechanic for sanitary, heating and air conditioning technology (m/f/d).

With us, you will receive sound, practical training in a committed team. You will learn how modern supply systems are planned, installed and maintained – directly on varied construction sites.

You can look forward to training with real prospects, individual support and a working environment that promotes your personal development.

Your tasks in practical training:

- We provide you with a wide range of knowledge about the planning, installation, maintenance and repair of complex supply technology systems.
- They not only learn how the systems work, but also gain exciting knowledge about materials and electrical engineering along the way.
- You will actively support your colleagues in handling our varied and exciting projects.
- We will show you how work is organized on a construction site and what constitutes the right way to deal with our customers.
- In addition, you will attend vocational school in blocks, where you will acquire the theoretical specialist knowledge.

What you bring with you:

- You have a good secondary school leaving certificate (especially in the subjects of mathematics and physics)
- We require manual skills and an interest in technology
- Reliability, an independent way of working and a sense of responsibility

Fancy a change?

Are you looking for an exciting professional challenge, but our current vacancies don’t quite meet your expectations? Then show us what makes you unique and send us an unsolicited application!
